

ecoNews — Wire —

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

April 29, 2004

For immediate release

1. DNR launches Gas Price Watch Web site

DNR LAUNCHES GAS PRICE WATCH WEB SITE

DES MOINES — As the summer driving season approaches, Iowa drivers can find the latest information on rising gas prices at a new DNR Web site.

Along with updated gas prices, visitors to the Web site will find fuel and money saving tips and background information about impacts on the U.S. gasoline market.

The site is located at www.state.ia.us/dnr/energy/. Click on “Gas Price Watch.”

“While consumers may not be able to bring the price of gasoline down in the short term, increasing their fuel efficiency and using renewable fuels can lessen the impact on their wallet and affect long term prices,” said Jennifer Moehlmann, DNR energy analyst.

For more information, contact Jennifer Moehlmann at (515) 281-8518, or by e-mail at Jennifer.Moehlmann@dnr.state.ia.us.